Please note ...

This is an education-packed conference. The informational sessions will conclude at 3⁰⁰ pm July 18.

Certificates for Continuing Professional Education documentation will be available for pickup from the registration table Tuesday afternoon.

Why this conference?

✓ Dual track format. Built into the schedule are several simultaneous sessions, a format that enables attendees to hear presentations from the perspective of either a member of the board/senior management or an IT/IS professional. This flexibility allows participants to customize the learning experience—and enables multiple representatives from a bank to draw added value using a “divide-and-conquer” sharing approach.

✓ Subject matter. Speakers will take on a broad range of topics relevant to the people tasked with managing or facilitating and safeguarding the information technology functions for community banks. Don't miss the regulatory roundtable with the Federal Reserve Bank, the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and the U.S. Secret Service.

✓ Industry emphasis. Community banks face unique challenges in the realm of information security and technology. Understanding this, the conference speakers will tackle their subject matter with community bank realities in mind. What's more, the schedule builds in quality time for professional networking. You're encouraged to build your network of community bank contacts at the opening reception, over meals, and during the Monday-evening group activity — dinner and baseball at nearby Coors Field.
